

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to polymers comprising a sequence of units comprising an ethylenic
5 unsaturation, the unsaturation being located every 3 carbon atoms between two successive units.

The invention also relates to processes for preparing such polymers.